Home MMA Training Hall (Play Store) Codie Smith is great game great experience so far. I like the combat automatically and gives the game an authentic manager/coach feel. Train them and then let them fight and see how they do...they like them.

The only thing I met is a trifle. The choice of hair, especially when creating a warrior, is limited. It would be nice to have more choice even when paying money or credit such as E.g. t-shirts and shorts. Also a nice game. Keep going! 172Did you find this comment useful? Kösterpunkt 2021 February 22 Thank you for your feedback. We're glad you're enjoying the game, your feedback will be taken into consideration. Keep fighting! Scott Chowsolid Game, I like to focus on gym and fighter management.

It's a bit strange that your fighters can fight each other while you're not playing. If you can't create a game plan for each person you fight, it's hard to have a good record. However, this is only a minor inconvenience. Overall good games and experience. 97 people found this review helpful and what did you find helpful? Heads PointMarch 1, 2021

Thanks for your feedback, we're glad you're enjoying the game. Your feedback will be taken into consideration. Keep fighting! Robert Mercadobon game, but I have some suggestions. 1. Make the game more interactive. Have skills active during battle or you can change your game plans. 2. have a more diversified specialization. Currently there are only three: BJJ, Muay Thai and Wrestling. Also add a bigger talent tree.

3. There seems to be no reason to continue the game because a level 1 knockout equals a higher level knockout. You have a kind of performance when your fighter learns new moves. 62 people found this review helpful. During planning, we planned to improve the player talent system and unlock moves as you level up various skills. If you follow us on Discord or a Facebook group, you can get the latest updates.
