Alex appears later in the Christmas episode of the fourth season to temporal Zone Christmas, where the idea of her and Johnny to join is further explored. Every time one of his visions in the eye, Johnny has proved to be able to manipulate the time localized around the vision, allowing him to stop, slow down, reverse or advance the time relating to what he sees within the vision, leaving him as the only one aware of his temporal alterations inside him and thus allowing him to further examine the details from the past, future, and occasionally from the present. However, he continued to jump out for the whole season in Visions, Flashback, and even briefly as a ghost. The devotion of him sometimes obscures the judgment of him, and he is even arrived to cover a murder to protect better interests. The name Walt Bannerman is a combination of the George Bannerman names and Walt Hazlett. In the novel, George Bannerman was the sheriff, and Walt Hazlett was the man who Sarah married. Writing A featurette that takes you inside meetings with the writing staff as they outline each episode. It was rumored Syfy would pick up the series after it was canceled by USA, but no plans came to fruition.[4] Plot See also: List of The Dead Zone episodes Small-town teacher Johnny Smith is involved in a car accident that leaves him comatose for approximately six years. After regaining consciousness, Johnny begins having visions of the past and future triggered by touching items or people; doctors attribute the visions to activity in a previously unused "dead zone" of his brain that is attempting to compensate for the impaired function of the portions injured in the accident. Upon meeting with Johnny Smith, it became clear that Stillson would become responsible for an apocalyptic event that Johnny has seen in his visions and is trying to prevent. Sarah Bracknell Bannerman (played by Nicole de Boer)eÁÁÁJohnny's former fiancéÁe Áe, and the mother of his son, J.J. Sarah married Walt Bannerman during Johnny's coma, and the two are raising J.J. together. Music And Special Effects- An in-depth tour of The Dead Zone's amazing visual effects. Never before seen interviews with various guest stars Commentary on all 13 episodes. Gene Purdy (played by David Ogden Stiers)eÁÁÁAnother original character in the series, a religious leader and head of a prestigious university and foundations funded by Vera Smith, Johnny's mother. Sarah was pregnant when Johnny had his accident, and she ultimately married Walt, who raised J.J. as his own son. An encounter with a carnival trickster in the first episode (before the car accident) makes it clear Johnny already has some psychic abilities.
