The answer kodaline lyrics meaning

For me, it's a song about accepting the bad days and trying to stay positive." The serious subject matter of "Sometimes" is carried within a spirited vehicle. People can identify the contents in their anxiety-defense toolbox (listening to podcasts is a learning escape and reading books on meditation is helpful), but they should admit: "I just hope these words will help whoever's listening / If someone cares to listen in." Steve Garrigan, the vocalist of Kodaline explained the origin of the song: "Sometimes" is a song I wrote while on tour in Asia last year. The press material includes a fitting description: The song starts as a sun-kissed acoustic folk groove before launching into the kind of anthemic, larger-than-life pop hook that the band have become renowned for. It also captures Kodaline's rare gift for exploring a challenging topic within a song that feels both joyous and life-affirming. I started writing the song in my hotel room to help me calm down, music has always helped me in that way. They are based in Dublin. "Sometimes" by Kodaline Facebook: Website: Lyrics of "Sometimes" by Kodaline I'm not looking for an answer I just hope these words will help whoever's listening If someone cares to listen in I've been up and down in life Sure, every day's a chance to fight Forever wrestling Trying to make amends again But I break down and I lose control The band don't care 'cause they had a good show I won't cry 'cause I'm lucky I know A restless heart and a beautiful soul It really doesn't matter if I stay or go It's hitting me hard but I'm lucky I know All of my friends Don't understand Maybe I'm crazy Maybe I'm blind Maybe we all get lost sometimes Sometimes (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) And every night when I'm alone I put another podcast on It helps me slip away Keeps me learning everyday Reading books on meditation Fights away the hesitations Hanging over me Easing the anxiety But I break down and I lose control The band don't care 'cause they had a good show I won't cry 'cause I'm lucky I know A restless heart and a beautiful soul It really doesn't matter if I stay or go It's hitting me hard but I'm lucky I know All of my friends Don't understand Maybe I'm crazy Maybe I'm blind Maybe we all get lost sometimes (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) But I break down and I lose control The band don't care 'cause they had a good show I won't cry 'cause I'm lucky I know 'Cause I'm lucky I know A restless heart and a beautiful soul It really doesn't matter if I stay or go It's hitting me hard but I'm taking it slow All get lost sometimes Sometimes (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) But I break down and I lose control The band don't care 'cause they had a good show I won't cry 'cause I'm lucky I know 'Cause I'm lucky I know (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) A restless heart and a beautiful soul It really doesn't matter if I stay or go (Oh, oh, oh, oh oh) It's hitting me hard but I'm taking it slow All get lost sometimes I'm not looking for an answer I just hope these words will help Whoever's listening If someone cares to listen in Watch your step or you might fall You act like you're a know-it-all Yeah I used to do that, I used to be like that I'm still a bit like that You might think you found the one Until your heart gets ripped and torn Yeah I used to feel bad, I used to feel like that I still feel a bit like that But I'm not searching for the answer I'm not looking for the truth I'm just talking through a speaker Because that's all that I have ever learned to do Use your mind and make it talk 'Cause in this world it's all you've got We all fall down from the highest clouds to the lowest ground The loneliness is worst of all When you've got no one else to call Feeling kind of sad when the times are bad, the times are getting bad But I'm not searching for the answer No, I'm not looking for the truth I'm just talking through a speaker Because that's all that I could ever learn to do Because that's all that I have ever learned to do What about you? What about you? Particularly in the early portion of the Kodaline single, the melody is light and cheery. This follows a successful 2019 in which Kodaline sold-out two 15,000-capacity shows at St. Anne's Park before playing to another 60,000 at the Electric Picnic Festival. That festival reached an emotional crescendo when Cranberries' guitarist Noel Hogan joined Kodaline for "Zombie," a tribute to the late Dolores O'Riordan (a portion of the tribute was captured by an attendee, and is embedded at the bottom of this post). Electric Picnic represented Kodaline going back to the beginning - their first arena show came when the Cranberries invited them to open a gig in Paris back in 2012. The first six shows were quickly sold out, so two were added. Don't have an account? But the authenticity and relatability of the song from Kodaline stem from the acknowledgments that the lyrics do not claim to hold the answer and that the struggle is a solitary one. "Sometimes" is an invitation to relate to struggles with anxiety and is comforting in stressing that we all get lost sometimes. It's super easy, we promise! As the song admits, "We all get lost sometimes." The members of Kodaline are Steve Garrigan (vocals, piano), Mark Prendergast (guitar), Jason Boland (bass), and Vinny May (drums). So watch your step or you might fall You act like you're a know-it-all Yeah I used to do that, I used to be like that I'm still a bit like that Lyrics submitted by nutshell7 The Answer Lyrics as written by Mark Prendergast Jason Boland Lyrics © CONCORD MUSIC PUBLISHING LLC, Kobalt Music Publishing Ltd. In late May and early June, Kodaline will "take residence" at The Olympia Theatre in Dublin. I had a really bad day dealing with my own anxiety issues and I let it get the better of me.
