And it doesn't get more straightforward than "Sex with me, so amazing." Listen Now 29 of 50 "Body Party," by Ciara No RSVP necessary to attend a Cici body party. And that's sexy. Listen Now 12 of 50 "Doin' It," by LL Cool J Ladies Love Cool James and his Def Jam recording from 1996. It's a single off the Eclectic Dining album from Cashmere Cat, one of Grande's frequent collaborators. You know, to cool you off. Listen Now 5 of 50 "I Want Your Sex," by George Michael Sometimes, it's best to just lay it all out there. Off the British singer-songwriter's self-titled 2016 debut album, "Hotter than Hell" is a sizzling up-tempo pop track that "goes down like some sweet alcohol." Just make sure it's on the rocks. Let them know what they're in for. Turn last night's dirty little head movie about "nasty things" into a sexy reality with the help of this up-tempo pop tune. Listen Now 20 of 50 "Bon Appetit," by Katy Perry with Migos No, Kate Perry isn't suggesting with her poppy "Bon Appetit" lyrics that you invite a four-course meal into the bedroom (although: you do you). ASAP Rocky Pop star Selena Gomez tries R&B on for size with a tune about dressing up and looking good for her beau, and she does so with the help of a guest rap by ASAP Rocky. Key words: "on top." Listen Now 9 of 50 "Starving," by Hailee Steinfeld Now that actress-turned-singer Hailee Steinfeld has graduated from exploring her body alone to charting unknown territories with another person, we have a few catchy stanzas, featuring Zedd and Grey, that celebrate it. Listen Now 10 of 50 "Earned It," by The Weeknd Any track off the Fifty Shades of Grey soundtrack has the potential to take up real estate on our list, but it's The Weeknd's seductive "Earned It," a lyrical tale perfectly suited to the two leads in E L James's book series, that brings the quiver. Listen Now 11 of 50 "Sign of the Times," by Harry Styles So, Harry Styles's "Sign of the Times" isn't exactly a song about getting naked, or physical longing, or making a mess out of your bedding. Curious about what a body party is though? It starts slow, builds, then mellows—just like, well, you know. Listen Now 22 of 50 "Good for You," by Selena Gomez feat. Just let Michael's provocative tune take care of all of the naughty biz for you. Listen Now 6 of 50 "Pony," by Ginuwine R&B hit-maker Ginuwine turned his song, "Pony," into iconic slow jam of '90s soul, but—we have to say—it was Channing

Tatum and his body rolls as male stripper Magic Mike that turned into the sex anthem of the 21st century.Listen Now 7 of 50 "Adore," by Cashmere Cat feat. Listen Now 13 of 50 "Falling Slowly," by Glen Hansard, Marketa Irglova More of an intimate lovers' ballad than kinky rock number, "Falling Slowly" is an indie folk duet about love and loss. And so does the artist himself. Old souls will be putty in each other's hands when Lee's infectious classic plays.Listen Now 26 of 50 "Ghost," by Halsey A runaway hit from the alternative pop star (whose name is an anagram!), "Ghost" is Halsey's steamy single about a love-struggle that details a relationship one just can't leave. An exploration of carnal anticipation, his ode to young love covers all of the bases—without actually getting to "home."Listen Now 19 of 50 "Sexxx Dreams," by Lady Gaga You have them, we have them, and now Lady Gaga is singing about them. Keep Frank on standby.Listen Now 24 of 50 "Die a Happy Man," by Thomas Rhett A sweet track perfectly suited to playing during the first night newlyweds spend together as a married couple, this country love song from hopeless romantic Thomas Rhett was written for his wife. But do you also recall the J.Lo cameo?Listen Now 28 of 50 "Sex with Me," by Rihanna Why beat around the bush? It's a love-to-love-it song that's light on varied lyrics and heavy on overtly sexual, NSFW vocals. And that's exactly what '80s pop idol George Michael does with his musical porn that is "I Want Your Sex." Not into talking dirty? "Let me set the mood right / 'Cause I'm gonna make you feel alright." JT's got this.Listen Now 4 of 50 "Hotter than Hell," by Dua Lipa Is it just us, or does the title of Dua Lipa's sultry jam really hit the double-entendre nail on the head? And it's worthy of the replay button. This hit is one of his favorites, "because what's better than doin' it? Cigarettes After Sex's ambient noir-pop tune from 2012 takes its time with rhythmic instrumentals and sensual vocals from frontman Greg Gonzalez, who calls the El Paso group's songs "erotic lullabies." Cue post-coital cuddling.Listen Now 2 of 50 "Love to Love You Baby," by Donna Summer Queue up the Queen of Disco's moany, certified-gold 1975 oldie when you're feeling extra amorous. We get the feeling legendary jazz artist Nina Simone is tapping into both with her bluesy love ballad that seductively flirts with alternative methods for keeping one's man.Listen Now 15 of 50 "Rump Shaker," by Wreckx-N-Effect Perhaps Wreckx-N-Effect's 1992 classic that celebrates the backside of the body has forged through the decades as a party-people, hookup anthem rather than your typical smooth lovers' ballad. Listen Now 27 of 50 "That's the Way Love Goes," by Janet Jackson You may remember the music video that got played on a loop on MTV back in the '90s: Miss Janet grooving up against a strategically placed column in what looks like a loft party as the lines, "Go deeper, baby, deeper," oozed out of her. And though the lyrics actually tap into the dark side of relationships, its building composition and romantic interludes make it the perfect tune for a romp.Listen Now 14 of 50 "I Put a Spell on You," by Nina Simone Possession can mean one of two things: 1) ownership, or 2) the state of being under some sort of supernatural spell. Wait, did Donna just... ?Listen Now 3 of 50 "Set the Mood Prelude/ Until the End of Time," by Justin Timberlake No need to bother with candles or edibles of the aphrodisiac nature, just let boy band comrade-gone-solo serenader Justin Timberlake take care of the ambiance. Listen Now 8 of 50 "Feeling Myself," by Beyoncé and Nicki Minaj Ladies, if ever there were a more appropriate time to take control in the bedroom than when Beyoncé and Nicki Minaj are dropping rhymes about feeling themselves, then we are unaware of it. It's a restrained hit with a vibe so sensual, we're pretty sure no one will stay dressed for long.Listen Now 23 of 50 "Thinkin Bout You," by Frank Ocean Frank Ocean taps into his emotions with his 2012 song that plays out like a very personal diary entry. In it, he mixes his spoken lyrics with flecks of falsetto for good measure, as he emotes about a past flame he can't get off his mind. The singer explained her juicy 2013 tune to VH1, saying, "A body party is when two people or a group get together and they dance together, the bodies touch sometimes."Listen Now 30 of 50 "Precious Possession," by Anna Wise A solo artist with longtime collaborative connections to rapper Kendrick Lamar, Anna Wise worked with Lamar, Bilal, and Thundercat on the 2015 Grammy winner "These Walls." With her 2017 solo single, "Precious Possession," she mixes her pop and electronic trademarks to sultry satisfaction.Listen Now But that saucy sax intro, though.Listen Now 16 of 50 "Shallow," by Lady Gaga and Bradley Cooper Even though there's enough passion and drama put forth by Lady Gaga and Bradley Cooper in this single off the A Star Is Born soundtrack to melt the speaker you're playing it on, this song works for just about every task—be it getting sweaty with each other or even diving into a sink full of dishes.Listen Now 17 of 50 "Criminal," by Fiona Apple "I've been a bad, bad girl..." Fiona Apple begins in this Grammy-winning radio favorite from 1996. She is, however, making a case for indulging in the ultimate lovers' feast for two: and that you "eat with your hands."Listen Now 21 of 50 "Crying Over," by Jessie Buckley Jessie Buckley has provided the perfect thing for amplifying the best part of a couple's squabble: the makeup sex. 25 of 50 "Fever," by Peggy Lee Jazz singer Peggy Lee brought the white-hot smolder way back in 1956 with her sultry hit, "Fever." And now, more than half a century later, the flame's still burning. (It also helps set the mood in the opening of the currently playing stripper crime-drama Hustlers.) Bonus points for getting those chunky wedges from the era out for some role play beforehand.Listen Now 18 of 50 "Nice and Slow," by Usher When you're down for an old-school remix, make sure you include 1997's "Nice and Slow" from the savant of sex: Usher. Reuniting with an ex soon? It's five and a half minutes of unbridled passion that explodes into vocal drama with Styles flexing his full tenor. Because if there's anything we've learned from Bad Gal RiRi, it's that being blunt is a turn-on. But who cares? And the track pounds just like you're doing it," he said to Entertainment Weekly back in 2012—all while keeping his pucker perfectly moist, we're sure. These two lyrical goddesses are on top of the world. Ariana Grande Ariana Grande lends her breathy, sexy sound to an EDM track about taking a relationship out of the friend zone and into the bedroom. 1 of 50 "Nothing's Gonna Hurt You Baby," by Cigarettes After Sex No need to rush things.
